Bound for South Aus - tra - lia

There's one thing there that grieves my mind,
It's leaving Nancy Blair behind.

I'll tell you the truth and I'll tell you no lies,
I'll love that girl till the day I die.

As I was walloping around Cape Horn,
I'd wished to God I'd never been born.

And now I'm on that foreign strand
With a bottle of whisky in my hand.

I'll drink one glass to the foreign shore,
And another to the girl that I adore.

Now fare thee well, and fare thee well,
And sweet news to my girl I'll tell.
